EDUCATION RESOURCES FOR DRAMA AND THEATRE STUDENTS IN THE ONLINE WORLD APRIL 2020

These resources have been created for the online learning world. You may know some of the selected plays and some may be new. It's always great to make discoveries. Whichever is the case, Australian Plays recommends that teachers access and read a script before selecting it for their students.

Each script and the accompanying activities are designed as a mini unit of work or series of lessons for students to do solo, in pairs and in collaboration to take place over several days or spread across two or more weeks. It all depends on your students and the learning context.

For each selected play there are activities that include:

- Suggested ways to jump into the script - individually, in pairs, in breakout groups, as a class, 'live' in the online space OR to prepare and bring back
- Monologues, Duologues and Scenes to read, learn, present and 'perform', that can be assessed 'live' or recorded by students and then submitted for assessment
- Ways for students to consider the design elements of theatre; set, properties, costume, sound, make-up. From reading the script they can make some creative decisions – what would this play look like and sound like? (Without sneaking looks at the productions shots first!)
- Suggestions for analysing and evaluating the script by reading professional reviews of previous productions and comparing and contrasting
- Listening to interviews with playwrights about their play, why they wrote it, and the stories they want to tell
- See production trailers or highlights that offer glimpses into the world of the play
- Access Education/Teachers notes prepared especially for the show that contain a whole stack of other activities for teachers to use with students!

Links to the curriculum: at the end of this resource there are two tables that link resources and the study of the plays to the Australian Curriculum in the Arts Drama and to aspects of each of the senior curricula in Drama/Theatre. They are suggestions only but may offer educators way to consider why and how these scripts address learning areas and assessment.

If you aren't able to have a school production this term, consider how one of these plays can be your 'production' in the online space.

So, consider your students, what are they into? Which script might offer them some new learning about plays and theatre? Over to you...and them.

YOU AND ME AND THE SPACE BETWEEN BY FINEGAN KRUCKEMEYER

A TERRAPIN PUPPET THEATRE PRODUCTION FROM THE AUSTRALIAN PLAYS COLLECTION FOR YOUNGER AUDIENCES - <https://australianplays.org/script/ASC-1777>

In the ocean stood an island. At its sides were the sea, and the tides found its top and its tail. This land was so small, and this ocean so large, that the people who lived there just saw a vast blue, beyond that which they knew, and never even thought of what might be out there. But one did. On the island, in a house, on a hill, grew a girl. And she knew what she was told: that this island held all that there was. But still she found herself wondering, about all that there wasn't – things that weren't facts, but were maybes, and could-bes, and ifs. Could there be another place, say, where the stars right above her could be seen from the left, but the ones to her right could be looked at straight up? So when her island one day sprang a leak, she and her people, they went to find out...

SUITABLE FOR YOUNGER STUDENTS AGED 7-70 (FANTASY, ADVENTURE)

STYLE AND STRUCTURE: Part picture book, part play, magical realism, adventure, narration, story-telling.

CHARACTERS:

Eve is the narrator and central character.

The Island's population of citizens appear throughout as the adventure develops. In the original production Eve as narrator, and a series of live visual drawings became these characters. However, in the online space, you can be creative by casting each new citizen and character with members of your class.

ACTIVITIES AND RESOURCES:

SUGGESTIONS FOR READING THE SCRIPT:

- Read the entire play in your own time or as directed by your teacher
- Allocate characters across the group, doubling or sharing if required
- Eve is the main narrator but many other characters voices are heard (in the original production they were created by an artist)

- Do a 'live' reading of the script together, breaking it up into episodes or a series of scenes across a couple of online sessions OR
- Allocate specific scenes for smaller groups/pairs to prepare and present back to the group and join them all together to make up the whole play!

SCENE FOCUS:

Scene 3 (page 9-11) – Here Eve recounts how the town reacts to the Island 'springing a leak' – cast the scene with Eve doing the narration and different characters saying their lines

Begins: And then it happened again

Ends: ...maybe the scariness of a vast sea, can hold new lands

MONOLOGUE FOCUS:

Monologue (page 19-20) – Eve describes stepping off the surface of the island onto other land

Begins: It is funny, stepping off a surface

Ends: Still you cannot live without your heart

'STAGING' THE PRODUCTION:

While not being able to see a performance of the show at the moment, you can put your imagination to work.

- Can you remember how the script and the story described the locations and places?
- What things happened in the story that suggest props and costumes, lights and sets, music and sound?
- How do you imagine this play would be staged?
- Create a Pinterest page or other digital scrapbook with images of set pieces and properties – upload to a group share drive
- Think about colours, textures, size
- Design and sketch one of the set pieces you think is really important
- Design and draw a costume for the character you will be playing
- Design/record a sound scape for one of the scenes

REVIEWS: WHAT DO THE CRITICS SAY?

What is a review? It is an opinion by an arts critic. The critic sees the show and then writes about the story, the staging and how good it is. Often reviewers are adults. This is a children's show so YOU get to decide what you might think! With your teacher or parent/carer read the following two reviews and decide whether you would go and see You and Me and the Space Between.

CURRICULUM LINKS: THE AUSTRALIAN CURRICULUM

LEARNING AREA	DESCRIPTION / EXAMPLES OF KNOWLEDGE AND SKILLS
THE ARTS - DRAMA	In Drama students across all bands/year levels, explore the following Elements of drama including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Principles of narrative (story)</li> <li>• Viewpoints – multiple/different</li> <li>• Forms – structures, devised, scripted</li> <li>• Skills, techniques and processes – making and responding including:               <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Role, character and relationships, voice and movement, language, ideas and dramatic action, Audience (particularly how to ‘perform online’)</li> </ul> </li> <li>• Materials – voice, body, props, costumes, lighting, sound, space</li> </ul>
CAPABILITIES
LITERACY	LITERACY IN THE ARTS In the Australian Curriculum: The Arts, students use literacy to develop, apply and communicate their knowledge and skills as artists and as audiences. Through making and responding, students enhance and extend their literacy skills as they create, compose, design, analyse, comprehend, discuss, interpret and evaluate their own and others’ artworks. Each Arts subject requires students to learn and use specific terminology of increasing complexity as they move through the curriculum. Students understand that the terminologies of The Arts vary according to context and they develop their ability to use language dynamically and flexibly.
NUMERACY	NUMERACY IN THE ARTS In the Australian Curriculum: The Arts, students select and use relevant numeracy knowledge and skills to plan, design, make, interpret, analyse and evaluate artworks. Across The Arts subjects, students recognise and use: number to calculate and estimate; spatial reasoning to solve problems involving space, patterns, symmetry, 2D shapes and 3D objects; scale and proportion to show and describe positions, pathways and movements; and measurement to explore length, area, volume, capacity, time, mass and angles.

	Students work with a range of numerical concepts to organise, analyse and create representations of data relevant to their own or others' artworks, such as diagrams, charts, tables, graphs and motion capture.
CRITICAL AND CREATIVE THINKING	CRITICAL AND CREATIVE THINKING Responding to the challenges of the twenty-first century – with its complex environmental, social and economic pressures – requires young people to be creative, innovative, enterprising and adaptable, with the motivation, confidence and skills to use critical and creative thinking purposefully. This capability combines two types of thinking: critical thinking and creative thinking. Though the two are not interchangeable, they are strongly linked, bringing complementary dimensions to thinking and learning. CRITICAL AND CREATIVE THINKING IN THE ARTS In the Australian Curriculum: The Arts, critical and creative thinking is integral to making and responding to artworks. In creating artworks, students draw on their curiosity, imagination and thinking skills to pose questions and explore ideas, spaces, materials and technologies. They consider possibilities and make choices that assist them to take risks and express their ideas, concepts, thoughts and feelings creatively. They consider and analyse the motivations, intentions and possible influencing factors and biases that may be evident in artworks they make to which they respond. They offer and receive effective feedback about past and present artworks and performances, and communicate and share their thinking, visualisation and innovations to a variety of audiences.
PERSONAL AND SOCIAL CAPABILITY	PERSONAL AND SOCIAL CAPABILITY Personal and social capability involves students in a range of practices including recognising and regulating emotions, developing empathy for others and understanding relationships, establishing and building positive relationships, making responsible decisions, working effectively in teams, handling challenging situations constructively and developing leadership skills.

	PERSONAL AND SOCIAL CAPABILITY IN THE ARTS In the Australian Curriculum: The Arts, students identify and assess personal strengths, interests and challenges. As art makers, performers and audience, students develop and apply personal skills and dispositions such as self-discipline, goal setting and working independently, and show initiative, confidence, resilience and adaptability. They also learn to empathise with the emotions, needs and situations of others, to appreciate diverse perspectives, and to understand and negotiate different types of relationships. When working with others, students develop and practise social skills that assist them to communicate effectively, work collaboratively, make considered group decisions and show leadership. The study of English as a system helps students to understand how language functions as a key component of social interactions across all social situations.
INTERCULTURAL UNDERSTANDING	INTERCULTURAL UNDERSTANDING Intercultural understanding is an essential part of living with others in the diverse world of the twenty-first century. It assists young people to become responsible local and global citizens, equipped through their education for living and working together in an interconnected world. Intercultural understanding combines personal, interpersonal and social knowledge and skills. Intercultural understanding stimulates students’ interest in the lives of others. It cultivates values and dispositions such as curiosity, care, empathy, reciprocity, respect and responsibility, open-mindedness and critical awareness, and supports new and positive intercultural behaviours. Though all are significant in learning to live together, three dispositions – expressing empathy, demonstrating respect and taking responsibility – have been identified as critical to the development of Intercultural Understanding in the Australian Curriculum. Drama and the study of others’ stories greatly contributes to these dispositions
